Voluntary Work	St John Ambulance Brigade of Ireland,	1978 to Present

Interests/Hobbies

Voluntary Work with St John Ambulance Brigade of Ireland.

I have been involved with St John Ambulance since I was 11 years old. I have risen up through the ranks to become a National Brigade Training Officer, BTO, and later National Operations Director. I am at present at the rank of Deputy Commissioner on Headquarters staff.

My role as BTO involved putting together various training programmes, implementing and delivering these programmes and dealing with statutory bodies.

My role as Operations Director involved interacting and co-ordinating with the relevant statutory bodies, such as the National Ambulance Service, an Garda Síochána, Fire and security services in regard to medical event cover. Large events such as the Dublin city marathon, Dublin Ironman, Aviva stadium, Croke park Stadium and various large outdoor and indoor events.

My primary role as Deputy Commissioner is to guide the organization and advise the present commissioner. My secondary role is as chair of the Department heads group. The group is made up of directors from our business, finance fund raising, operations, training and logistics departments.
